Due to the contribution of exceptional leaders in the field of architecture, the construction industry in Madhya Pradesh has been continuously chasing global benchmarks in terms of quality, comfort and value-addition. It goes without saying that the architects have a major role to play in nation building. They are the ones who blend art and science to ensure that our cities and buildings fit the way we want to live our lives.

Saluting their endeavour, Architects Conclave 2019 was organised by The Times of India, in association with Shivneri Sahil Empire, on September 21 at Indore. The event was supported by knowledge partner IPS Academy; event partners Focus Eye, Moira Steel, Bonton Furniture Solutions, Tisva, Janela Windows, CPL, Tata Tiscon, Cubix International, Arihant; automobile partner Tata Motors; and hospitality partner The Grand Bhagwati.

At a well-attended event of over 250 guests, architects were felicitated in multiple categories for their professionalism, transparency, integrity, commitment to service, client satisfaction, innovation and contribution to the profession. The felicitation was done by Ar. Achal Chaudhary and Narendra Kandhari, director, Sahil Group. There was also a session by keynote speaker Ar. Deepak Mehta.

Speaking on the occasion, Ar. Deepak Mehta said, "I am thankful for getting an opportunity to share my knowledge with the fraternity. The works of all architects were commendable making the task of choosing the winner, a tough one. It was truly a grand event to encourage the young talent and providing them a platform to showcase their works."

Jury member Ar. Rajkumar Vaswani said, "It was a wonderful experience to be a part of the first edition of Architects Conclave 2019. This is a grand platform for architects of Madhya Pradesh, offering them strong recognition and motivation."

Talking about the event, jury member Ar. Deepak Vipat said, "The Architects Conclave is a platform which shall inspire both established and budding architects to achieve higher goals and recognition through competitive spirit."

Another jury member Ar. Kalpana Babar said events like Architects Conclave teach two things. "First, we should document our work and second all good work need not be path breaking but could be about everyday buildings that work well. It's about sharing our work not winning. All participants are winners," she said.

Jury member Ar. AK Srivastava also expressed his happiness over the well-organised event. He said, "The event brought the work of state architects into limelight and established the fact that quality architectural works in being done here. Also, the work of young architects has given hope for bright future of architecture in state."

Sanjay Shrivastava said the Architects Conclave can be deemed as a step towards the nation recognising the work done by the architects. "It gives me immense pleasure to see Madhya Pradesh being considered frequently in every aspect of new trends and development. Events like these provide a pathway towards new ideas and better networking," he added. Jury member Ar. Vinay Shrivastava said the Architects Conclave was a confluence of old school and next gen architects with best-in-class designs and mesmerising architectural thought processes. "Such events bring all together with a sense of belonging and at the same time trigger competition for quality work," he said.
